More about MTI

The Manufacturing Technology Institute on Jamestown Community College's Jamestown and Cattaraugus County campuses focuses on developing and providing hands-on technical training to support advanced manufacturing in the Southern Tier region. MTI houses the industrial equipment technology, mechanical technology, machine tool technology, and welding technology programs, as well as non-credit industry specific customized training programs.

As the premier manufacturing skills training provider in the region, MTI works in cooperation with education and industry partners to define and implement a clear pathway of manufacturing technology training from grade school to a graduate degree.
