October

October is when pumpkins
 get carved and yell so loud it echoes inside its body and October is when
 after the pumpkin's pain goes away it lights up with glee.

By Jocelyn Nickerson

October

October is
 When we carve pumpkins
 And they scream while
 We stab them with a knife.
 And
 October is when the graveyard
 Yells and screams at people.

By Loretta Killingbeck

The Skeleton

By Caden Perry

One night there was a spooky cemetery and there was thunder. A skeleton wanted to scare the kids away. But he didn't scare them away because that would be mean to them. The sun is rising so he goes back into his grave. Then the kids could play.

October

October is when costumes
 climb on you make you scary
 and October is when scarecrows
 grab you
 and eat your brain.

By Nathan W. Griffiths

The Goblin

By Isabella Richardson

Outside in the woods there was a goblin. He wanted a zebra to cook. But Isabella wanted to cook it for dinner. So Isabella and the goblin shared. Then they went to the table and ate the zebra there.

Izzy in the Haunted House

By Izzy Morris

Izzy lives in a haunted house. She wanted to find her best friends. But she couldn't find them. They were lost in the dungeon. So she looked and looked and looked. Then she looked in the dungeon and she found her best friends.

The Ghost and the Turtles

By Pierre Lussier

In a haunted house there was a ghost. He wanted the turtles to visit. But it was too scary in the house. So the ghost went to the park. Then the turtles came to play in the park.

The Vampire

By Aaron Richardson

One windy day a vampire was hanging on a tree. He was waiting for a truck to go by so he can hop on. But when he jumped off the tree he got run over. He flew to the woods and he got eaten by a bear. His mom got a potion so he can get out of the bear.

The Witch

By Elinor Cook

In a dark, dark dungeon there was a witch in a scary dungeon. She wanted a magic witch potion. But she could not because it was in the dungeon. So she broke into the dungeon to get the potion. Then she used it on a kid.

The Big Skeleton

By Aason White

In a thunder house there was a skeleton. He wanted bones for his collection. But he cannot find them. So he borrowed some from his friend. Then he was happy.

SpongeBob

By Dravyn DeBock

SpongeBob had trouble eating a spider in a haunted house. He wanted to because he was evil. But he couldn't find one. So he ate bones instead. Then he burped because he ate too much stuff.

Ghost Girl

By Cierra Davenport

In a haunted house there was a ghost girl. She wanted candy. But she was sick. So she went to the doctor to get a shot. Then she felt better so she could eat candy.
